Joanna Laursen Brucker EdM '09
Programs Manager, NewKnowledge

Joanna Laursen Brucker joined NewKnowledge as a project manager in 2015, bringing expertise in international education and gender equity program implementation. She is interested in cross-cultural dialogue for conflict mediation and education's role in identity formation. Ms. Brucker is both a trained facilitator and educator. She has managed Roma informal education programs in Kosovo, overseen implementation and research of girls' access to education programming in Ethiopia, and worked on minority youth integration in Europe. She is currently a young professionals representative with NGO Committee on the Status of Women to the United Nations.

Ms. Brucker received her Masters degree in International Education Policy from Harvard University.

Sandy Santana AB '97
Executive Director, Children's Rights

Sandy Santana joined Children's Rights as chief operating officer in 2012. From 2006 to 2012, Mr. Santana served as Managing Director and General Counsel of Legal Outreach, a law-related college prep organization, where he was responsible for the organization's management and strategic growth initiatives.

Prior to joining Legal Outreach, he served as a corporate associate in the Boston office of Goodwin Procter LLP (2004-2006) and in the New York office of Cleary, Gottlieb, Steen & Hamilton LLP (2001-2004). His legal practice focused on international corporate finance, securities, mergers and acquisitions, and private equity matters.

Sandy is a member of the board of directors of Manhattan Legal Services, an organization that provides free legal representation to fight poverty and promote racial, social and economic justice for low-income New Yorkers. He is also Treasurer of the Jeremiah Program, a national organization that uses a two-generation approach to prepare determined single mothers to excel in the workforce, readies their children to succeed in school and reduces generational dependence on public assistance.

Mr. Santana received his B.A. from Harvard College and his J.D. from Columbia Law School.

Triada Stampas AB '98
Vice President for Research and Public Affairs, Food Bank For New York City

As Vice President for Research and Public Affairs, Triada Stampas leads Food Bank For New York City's efforts in research and evaluation, government relations, policy/advocacy and community mobilization.

Ms. Stampas previously served as Senior Director of Government Relations at Food Bank for more than five years, successfully advocating for new Federal, State and City funding for anti-hunger initiatives, including leading the statewide campaign that restored $30 million in dedicated funding for emergency food in the State budget. Ms. Stampas was also responsible for developing and implementing Food Bank's first advocacy strategy, including an inaugural legislative breakfast, Washington, DC Lobby Day, and member mobilization plan.

Prior to joining Food Bank, Ms. Stampas served as Director of the New York City Council's Investigations Division and as Chief of Staff to former Council Member Eric Gioia. A Queens native, Ms. Stampas holds a Bachelor's degree from Harvard University and a Master's degree in public administration from Columbia University. She currently serves on advisory committees for national anti-hunger organizations Feeding America and the Food Research & Action Center (FRAC).
