SUNDAY, APRIL 10

SUNDAY AT THE MASTERS

Wake with the birds at the break of dawn with excited anticipation. Today you will witness the best golf in the world as legendary names compete for the coveted green jacket.

A group transfer of approximately 2 hours will take you to Augusta National Golf Course, the world’s only course to host a major championship every year.

Upon arrival, dig into a lavish breakfast at the hospitality facilities during a short orientation to the day. Here you receive your Masters Patron’s Badge, an exclusive and sought after spectator’s prize offering the most intimate experience of the game of golf.

Take your personal Masters chair and head inside the gates to claim your vantage point on the course. Once placed, your chair secures your spot throughout the day (and of course, with southern decorum prevailing, you need not worry about it being moved). Spend the rest of the day following your favorite golfers across the pristine contours of the emerald course, catching moments of frustration and elation at acclaimed golf monuments like Amen Corner.

Be sure to take time to walk the most storied golf course in the world. The 18 holes of Augusta is an amazing experience in itself. Observe the massive elevation changes, breathe in the fragrance of rhododendron and azalea bushes in full bloom, pass through towering forests and hushed pine-covered pathways, and marvel at the endless vistas of perfectly manicured fairways. With morning and evening light, the colors and hues dramatically change and delight.

Unlike other majors, the Masters has very tight restrictions on the number of badges available, giving the course a relatively uncrowded feel, even on the final Sunday.

One very important notice—don’t forget to leave your phone behind. If you are spotted using a device by one of the many security guards patrolling the course, you will be quickly escorted off the premises. You may check your phone and other items at the hospitality facilities.

For lunch, you can either pick up a famous pimento sandwich and cold beer (at a surprisingly reasonable cost), or you can pop out to the hospitality facilities, where there is a bounty of fresh seafood, grilled meats, sandwiches on home-baked breads, local cheeses, and an open bar.

After the last putt has dropped on the 18th, and the green jacket has been passed from last year’s winner to the next (usually around 7 p.m.), return to the hospitality facilities, where you can linger over drinks and an endless array of hot food.

Later this evening, board your private group transfer for delivery to your home for the next 2 nights, the Ritz Carlton Lodge, Reynolds Plantation.

Overnight: Ritz Carlton Lodge, Reynolds Plantation (B, L, D)

MONDAY, APRIL 11
GOLFING AT REYNOLDS PLANTATION

Enjoy a leisurely breakfast this morning before striding onto the first tee at The National Course.

Designed by Tom Fazio, this course was recently renovated in the Spring of 2014. Having won Best Courses You Can Play by Golfweek and Top 20 in the State by Golf Digest, The National provides impressive elevations and breathtaking views. Just a quick 5 minute transfer from the hotel makes it easily accessible for the day’s golfing activities.

After your round, enjoy a relaxed lunch at the clubhouse or back at the hotel’s lounge. For those wanting more golf, a boxed lunch can be arranged for the day (additional rounds in excess of 18 holes are at your own expense).

Tonight celebrate together and recount the memorable moments experienced from the triumphant cheers at Masters day Sunday to the muttered frustrations of your own game of golf. A group dinner has been arranged at the Reynolds Plantation.

Overnight: Ritz Carlton Lodge, Reynolds Plantation

TUESDAY, APRIL 12
FAREWELLS

After breakfast there will be a select number of transfers to the Atlanta airport (or you can elect to make your own way).
