The Harvard Alumni Association is in receipt of a People to People exchange license issued by the Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC). This program differs from more traditional trips in that every hour must be accounted for. Each day has been structured to provide meaningful interactions with Cuban people or educational or cultural programming. Please note that the Harvard Alumni Association intends to fully comply with all requirements of the license. Travelers must participate in all group activities. Each individual is required to keep a copy of their final program which could be requested by OFAC officials at any point in the next five years.

Please note that we fully expect this program to change so that we can accommodate the changing schedules of the people meeting with the group. The below program includes examples of speakers and visits but there may be other guests and visits added as we develop the program. We will have an updated itinerary later this spring.

SCHEDULE BY DAY

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 23
INDEPENDENT ARRIVALS IN MIAMI

Since the flight to Havana departs early in the morning on Friday, October 24 you will need to arrive in Miami no later than Thursday, October 23.

You are responsible for your own travel arrangements to Miami and for your own hotel reservations on October 23. We strongly suggest the Miami Airport Hotel as it is located within the airport and will allow you easy access to the charter flight check-in area, but there are several other hotels in the airport vicinity.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 24
HAVANA

Depart Miami on a charter flight to Havana. This short flight takes about 45 minutes.

Upon arrival in Havana proceed through immigration and collect your luggage. Your local Cuban guide and your tour manager will be waiting for you outside in the arrivals area.

The first stop will be at the iconic Hotel Nacional. Designed by the New York firm McKim, Mead and White, Hotel Nacional opened in 1930 when Cuba was a prime travel destination for Americans. It had a storied run up to the Cuban Revolution (and it continues today as attested by its Hall of Fame). Enjoy a traditional Cuban lunch at La Barraca Restaurant located outside in the grounds of the hotel. After lunch drive to the Hotel Parque...
Central along the Malecon, the popular seaside boulevard.

After checking in, meet for some introductory comments and a lecture by your Harvard study leader.

Dinner this evening will be at the hotel in the rooftop restaurant.

HAVANA

This morning begin exploring Havana by foot on a tour led by an architectural historian, Ayleen Robaiyna.

Of all the capital cities in the Caribbean, Havana has the reputation of being the most splendid and the finest example of a Spanish colonial city in the Americas. Restoration work in the old part of the city helps reveal the glories of the past. Many of its palaces were converted into museums after the Revolution and more work has been done since the old city was declared a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 1982. While much of Cuba's infrastructure has crumbled and its economy has limped along, more than 300 landmark buildings in Old Havana have been refurbished. From fortresses built in the colonial days to famous nightspots and hotels of the city's swinging era just before the Cuban revolution, the key to the renaissance of the old city has been a strategy of restoring old hotels, restaurants and historic sites to attract tourists, then using the revenue from tourism to finance more restoration. Restoration of the historic center is one of the city government's priorities and our time here will allow ample opportunity to evaluate the progress.

View a scale-model of Old Havana, which serves as an excellent introduction to the layout of the city. Close by is the Plaza de Armas, which was built in 1584 for military exercises. Most mornings used books are sold here, mainly post-revolution editions on Cuban history. Havana's town hall is located on the square now the city museum and gives an overview of its history. Admire the Cathedral of Saint Christopher located on the cobbled Plaza de la Catedral. The cathedral has been described by one Cuban writer as “music set in stone.” The square is surrounded by some of Havana's oldest buildings and the wealthiest families built their mansions here.

Next, stop in at the San Francisco Church to watch the Camerata Romeu in rehearsal. This is an all-women group of musicians who play stringed instruments. Founded in 1993 by director, Zenaida Romeu, the group selects music from Cuba and from different parts of the world. The Composers chosen range from Leo Brouwer and Esteban Salas to Bach and Mozart.

End the morning at the Plaza Vieja, a beautiful old square. Although the square was in a sad state of repair for many years, that decay is being reversed by the caring restoration of Habana Vieja.

Lunch is at a restaurant and will be accompanied by local music.

This afternoon continue with Ayleen Robaiyna on a city orientation tour by bus. The tour will include an inside visit to the wonderful Riviera Hotel which, when it opened in 1958, was considered a marvel of modern design. It was owned at the time by Meyer Lansky. The hotel has recently been restored to recapture its 1950s ambience. Drive along La Rampa which climbs past the offices of Cubana, the Hotel Havana Libre and Art-Deco apartment buildings to the Parque Copelia, an entire block of a large, lush park. It is at this park where you will find the iconic ice-cream parlor; designed in 1966, it serves an estimated 30,000 customers a day.

Follow Calle L south from La Rampa and arrive at the wide steps which lead to the porticoed, columned façade beyond which lies the University of Havana. Walk through the Colon Cemetery before returning to the hotel. The cemetery offers an incredible display of architectural styles in the various tombs that are located here.

Dinner is at Café Oriente, an elegant government-run restaurant located in the heart of old Havana.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 26
Havana

After breakfast this morning attend a lecture and discussion with Professor Ricardo Torres on The Changing Forces of Cuba’s Economic Structure. Professor Torres is a macro-economist at the Center for the Study of the Cuban Economy at the University of Havana. He has also been a visiting professor at Harvard’s David Rockefeller Center for Latin American Studies.

After the lecture walk a short distance to the Museo Nacional de Bellas Artes: Arte Cubano (Cuban Collection). The museum’s origins date back to 1842 when the San Alejandro Art Academy started its collection, forming the nucleus of the museum founded in 1913. It expanded greatly after Castro took over in 1959, notably with works from the private collections of Julio Lobo and Oscar Cintas. The tour this morning will be accompanied by Lucila Hernandez, a contemporary art curator.

Enjoy lunch at the newly opened paladar called Figaro, located in the heart of the ArteCorte community.

Artecorte is a community project run by Gilberto Valladares (Papito), whose interest in the barber trade led him to start an unusual collection of hairdressing artifacts, which are exhibited at his private salon as a sort of “interactive museum.” Since 2002, Papito has also been running a community project, actively restoring the neighborhood with cooperation from the city—as well as opening a school for barbers in the area. Here, learn about Papito’s community work, see what a rations store looks like, and visit a senior center.

This afternoon visit Vivero Alamar, a state-owned research garden to learn more about urban gardening in Havana. The effects of the Special Period and consequent food shortages have had great repercussions in the city of Havana. With approximately 2.5 million people, Havana has about one fifth of Cuba’s total population. Havana’s urban agriculture has taken on many forms, ranging from private gardens (huertos privados) to state-owned research gardens (organicponicos) and this morning there will be a chance to learn more about how these gardens, located near urban areas, grow and distribute their freshly-grown produce. Meet with manager Miguel Angelo Salcines and other staff at the garden.

Dinner is on your own this evening. Restaurant recommendations and reservation assistance will be provided.

Overnight at the Hotel Parque Central (B, L)

MONDAY, OCTOBER 27
Havana

This morning attend a lecture and discussion on US/Cuban Relations led by Professor Raul Rodriguez from the University of Havana. Dr. Rodriguez has written extensively on US-Cuban Relations including an article written for the David Rockefeller Center for Latin American Studies.

After the lecture drive about 20 minutes to visit Ernest Hemingway’s home which has been lovingly preserved and recently restored by the Cuban government. The house was designed by Spanish architect Miguel Pascual y Baguer in 1922 and was inhabited by Hemingway from 1939 to 1960. Today, it hosts a large collection of over 22,000 items including books, records, furniture, paintings and stuffed animals. The house is just as Hemingway left it, with the books on the tables and many of his favorite photographs on display. While it is not possible to go inside the house, the windows are left open for a decent view of the interior.

Enjoy a private lunch at the home and studio of artist Jose Fuster, who has turned his neighborhood into one enormous piece of mosaic art. Fuster is dedicated to his creations, a vast array of artwork from ceramics evoking the nation’s African roots, as represented in the Santeria religion, to whimsical paintings drawn from ordinary life in Cuba.

Return to Havana and visit the Presidential Palace, now known as the home of the Revolutionary Museum. The history of Cuban political development is illustrated here from the slave uprisings to joint missions with the ex-Soviet Union. Although undergoing renovation, the Revolutionary Museum is still open for visits. The Granma Memorial, which preserves the vessel that brought Fidel Castro, Che Guevara, and other revolutionaries from Mexico to Cuba in 1956, is across the street.

Depart the hotel this evening for a reception at the Ludwig Foundation, an organization committed to the promotion of art in Cuba. One of the foundation’s officers will address the group and guests will then have an opportunity to mingle with several young Cuban artists who will be on hand to explain their work. Please note that there is only one small elevator to access the foundation which is located on the 5th floor of the building.

Afterwards, enjoy dinner a wonderful dinner at L’Atelier, an excellent paladar (private restaurant).

Overnight at the Hotel Parque Central (B, L, D)

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 28

HAVANA

This morning visit the U.S. Interests Section for a briefing by a State Department officer. While the U.S. does not have formal diplomatic relations with Cuba, it maintains basic consular services under the auspices of the Swiss Embassy. The head U.S. diplomat is called the Chief of Mission.

Continue on to learn about urban organic farming at Vivero Alamar. The effects of the Special Period and consequent food shortages have had greatest repercussions in the city of Havana. With approximately 2.5 million people, Havana has about one fifth of Cuba’s total population and Havana’s urban agriculture has taken on many forms, ranging from private gardens (huertos privados) to state-owned research gardens (organicponicos). Visit the garden where there will be an opportunity to meet workers here and learn about their work, research and produce. Enjoy a superb lunch at the farm in its newly opened restaurant, El Divino.

Drive a short distance to visit the Santovenia Senior Center where we will have a chance to meet with staff and residents. This beautiful building is maintained by the church and is headed by Mother Consuelo Pena who recently moved to Cuba from Mexico. Senior citizens will be one of the fast-growing sectors of Cuba’s population in the coming decades. The center is always short of items such as Ibuprofen and Band-Aids so any donations of this sort are always welcome.

This evening the farewell dinner is at La Guarida. This well-known restaurant served as the setting for the main apartment in the film Fresa y Chocolate. Please note that there is no elevator in this building and the restaurant is located on the 3rd floor of the building.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 29

HAA and Distant Horizons reserve the right to cancel any tour prior to departure for any reason, including insufficient number of participants, and to decline to accept or retain any person as a participant at any time. Should this happen, refunds will be made without obligation, although we cannot be held responsible for any additional costs already incurred by participants.

TOUR SIZE: This tour is limited to 25 participants on a first-come, first-served basis. The tour price is based on a number of people traveling together. If bookings fall below the minimum required, passengers may be advised of additional costs for that departure date.

WHAT TO EXPECT: Participation on a HAA program requires that passengers be in generally good health. It is essential that persons with any medical issues and/or dietary restrictions make them known to us well before departure. Any impairments regarding mobility must be disclosed to HAA prior to booking. We can counsel participants on whether a trip is appropriate for them.

ABOUT TRAVEL TO CUBA: Traveling to Cuba offers a unique opportunity to be in a country that has been ruled with tight political control for many years with minimal interaction with others countries. This combined with the current trade embargo has resulted in a lack of many goods and services that might be expected.

We have chosen the hotels based on comfort and reliability but be advised that accommodations in general in Cuba are not up to the same Western standards to which you may be accustomed. The restaurants on this program have been carefully selected and will offer a variety of cuisines including, of course, traditional Cuban cuisine! Again, be warned that service can be slow.

It is not possible to use a US cell phone in Havana but cell phones can be rented at the airport. Additionally, if you bring an unlocked US cell phone you can rent a Cuban SIM card at the airport. Calls with a Cuban cell phone cost about 60 cents a minute to receive or make. Wireless internet service is not wide-spread in Cuba but there are a few internet cafes.

American credit cards are not usable in Cuba. Likewise, dollars are not a permissible usable currency but it is possible to bring dollars into the country and convert them to Cuban convertible pesos which can then be used everywhere in Cuba.

Even though you are participating in a legal trip to Cuba, you are not authorized to bring back into the U.S. any Cuban merchandise. It may be confiscated, and it is not a question of paying duty. As a result of the Trade Embargo, it is simply illegal to bring back Cuban goods. HOWEVER, please note that original pieces of art, all books and CDs are EXCLUDED from the Trade Embargo. Although you can buy as much original artwork and books as you want and bring it back to the United States, you may still be subject to the duty that is generally levied on any books exceeding the value of $400.

More detailed information on Travel in Cuba will be sent to you about 2 months before departure.

TRIP INSURANCE: We highly recommend the purchase of trip cancellation insurance. An application for trip cancellation insurance will be provided by the HAA upon confirmation. The pre-existing medical conditions exclusion is waived if the insurance is purchased within 15 days of initial deposit. Neither the Harvard Alumni Association nor our tour operators, including their representatives, employees and agents, will take responsibility for any costs, losses incurred or suffered by the guest, or guests’ dependents or traveling companions, with regards to, but not limited to, cancellation or curtailment of the tour, emergency evacuation expenses, medical expenses, repatriation expenses, damage/theft/loss of personal baggage, money and goods. Nor do they accept liability for any airline cancellation penalty incurred by the purchase of a non-refundable airline ticket or other expenses incurred by tour participants in preparing for the tour.

EMERGENCY MEDICAL & EVACUATION INSURANCE: As a service to travelers, the HAA automatically provides emergency medical evacuation insurance. At the time of publication, this policy has the following schedule of benefits:

- $1,000 Accidental Death and Dismemberment
- $2,500 Accident and Sickness Medical Expense Benefit ($50 deductible per incident)
- $50,000 Emergency Sickness Medical Evacuation
- $10,000 Repatriation of Remains

This insurance covers travelers for the HAA-sponsored program dates, but not for any extensions or independent travel plans. You will receive detailed information on this coverage with your confirmation packet from HAA. Should you also purchase the Travel Insurance Select offered to you at confirmation, it will provide you with benefits which are additional to those stated above. This insurance is secondary to any insurance the traveler may already have.

CHANGES IN ITINERARY, PROGRAM AND COSTS: The itinerary is subject to change at the discretion of Harvard Alumni Association and Distant Horizons. We reserve the right to change a program’s dates, staff (including study leader), itineraries, or accommodations as conditions warrant. Deviations from the scheduled itinerary are at the expense of the individual. All prices quoted are based on prevailing fuel prices, airfares and currency exchange rates in effect as of March 2013 and are subject to change.

QUESTIONS: Please call HAA Travels at 800.422.1636 or 617.496.0806, or email us at haatravels@harvard.edu

RESPONSIBILITY: Harvard and Distant Horizons act only in the capacity of agents for the hotels, airlines, bus companies, railroads, ship lines or owners or contractors providing accommodations, transportation or other services. As a result, all coupons, receipts or tickets are issued subject to the terms and conditions specified by the supplier. By acceptance of tour membership, the participant agrees that neither Harvard and Distant Horizons nor any of its subsidiaries shall become liable or responsible for personal injury, damage to persons or property, loss, delay or irregularity caused by persons not controlled by it, such as (without limitation) airlines, bus and shipping companies, suppliers of accommodations or other services, or loses, personal or otherwise resulting from any acts of God, defects in vehicles, strikes, wars, whether declared or otherwise, civil disturbances, medical or customs regulations, acts of terrorism, epidemics or government restrictions. Harvard and Distant Horizons cannot be held responsible for unfavorable weather or closure of access routes due to bad weather conditions. Harvard and Distant Horizons are not responsible for any additional expenses or liability sustained or incurred by the participant as a result of the above mentioned causes.

Tour participant acknowledges receipt of a copy of these Terms and Conditions and signifies acceptance of, and consents to, all of the terms and conditions set forth herein, on behalf of any participants they may act for and for themselves when registering for, or making payments on, this tour.
