AIR ARRANGEMENTS: International airfare is not included in the program cost. In order to provide the greatest flexibility to participants, there are no designated group flights for this program. If requested, Criterion Travel can recommend a travel agent to arrange flights for this departure. The air ticket when issued shall constitute the sole contract between the passenger and the airline concerned.

WHAT TO EXPECT / PHYSICAL HEALTH: The majority of this itinerary takes place at high altitude (in Tibet, approximately 12,000 feet; in Bhutan, approximately 7,000 feet.). Participants on this program may experience some symptoms of altitude sickness, including headache, fatigue and insomnia; it is likely a few will experience more severe symptoms. In addition, higher altitudes can exacerbate pre-existing health issues.

This will be a fast-paced, relatively active program covering rugged terrain, with considerable walking and a number of rigorous travel days with early departures. Daily excursions involve one to three miles of walking, including stairs without handrails, high thresholds, and cobbled paths. The optional excursion to Taktsang Monastery in Bhutan is a rigorous hike. Motorcoach rides to remote locations are sometimes long and rough, occasionally lasting up to seven hours.

Any physical condition requiring special attention, diet, or treatment must be reported. All reasonable efforts will be made to accommodate special diets and treatment; but medical treatment is not at Western standards, and we cannot guarantee special accommodations.

Meals will be basic, and restaurants may not offer the kind of variety or service one is accustomed to. Not all hotels have elevators; travelers may have to walk up several flights of stairs to rooms.

Restrooms outside the hotels and restaurants are often quite rustic (including some squat toilets), and may not supply toilet paper. In Bhutan, "bush stops" will be made during the longer bus rides, as public toilets are not available in remote areas. Travelers should be prepared to handle their own luggage at Customs points where porters are not permitted.

Participants with medical issues and/or dietary restrictions must make them known to us well before departure, and impairments regarding mobility must be disclosed prior to booking. If you have any questions about the level of activity of this program or your ability to participate, please call Harvard Alumni Travels at (800) 422-1636.

PREPARING FOR YOUR JOURNEY: You will be provided with comprehensive pre-departure travel information, including specific suggestions for packing, a recommended reading list and amenities pack.

EMERGENCY MEDICAL & EVACUATION

This insurance covers travelers for the Harvard-sponsored program dates, but not for any extensions or independent travel plans. You will receive detailed information on this coverage approximately 30 days prior to your departure. Should you also purchase the Travel Insurance Select offered to you at confirmation, it will provide you with benefits which are additional to those stated above. This insurance is secondary to any insurance the traveler may already have.

All prices quoted are based on prevailing fuel prices, airfares and currency exchange rates in effect as of March 2017 and are subject to change.

*In the event of a cancellation by the Harvard study leader, we will attempt to notify all travelers as soon as possible. We will make every reasonable effort to find a replacement study leader, but our ability to do so will depend on the availability of appropriate lecturers and proximity to the departure date. If we are not able to provide an appropriate substitute we will make every reasonable effort to provide other educational opportunities or program enhancements to ensure a viable travel study experience. Please note that all participants are bound to the cancellation fee schedule and other terms and conditions of the program regardless of whether or not a replacement study leader is found.
