FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3
TAORMINA

This morning we embark on a walking tour of this charming Sicilian town and learn about its ancient origins. A popular resort since the 19th century, Taormina attracted a Bohemian crowd of intellectuals in the early 20th century, with artists and such literary lights as D. H. Lawrence, Evelyn Waugh, and Truman Capote visiting here. Our tour includes the 3rd-century BCE Greek theater, where gladiators and animals fought to the death; the 13th-century Duomo, an interesting fortress-like structure; and the grand Piazza Vittorio Emanuele, site of the ancient agora and later the seat of the Roman Forum. The afternoon is free to enjoy as we wish; options include visiting one of the lovely beaches near town or taking a leisurely stroll down the Corso Umberto, Taormina’s main street lined with shops, restaurants, and cafés. Next to Taormina’s centrally located tourist office sits a Roman ruin with a restored 12th-century tower that offers marvelous views of Mount Etna and surroundings.

With lunch and dinner today on our own, perhaps a culinary adventure (or two) is in order – and thanks to Sicily’s strategic location and legacy of hosting numerous invading armies over the millennia, Sicilian food incorporates Italian, Arabic, and African influences into a singular, and delicious, cuisine. Seafood, especially, reigns supreme here; and gelato, Italian ice cream, is said to have derived from locals flavoring snow found on Mount Etna.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 4
TAORMINA / AGRIGENTO

A day-long excursion takes us to the “Valley of the Temples” at Agrigento, an important and impressive archaeological zone (and UNESCO site) whose ruined Doric temples and sanctuaries date to Greek rule in the 5th century BCE. A leading urban spot during the Golden Age of ancient Greece, Agrigento was called “the most beautiful city of mortals” during its heyday – and though much of it now is in ruins, we can still see why. The valley’s eastern zone contains the ruins of several sanctuaries, including the Temple of Ercole, among the oldest of the temples (nearby we see the deep ruts from ancient carriages), and also the beautifully preserved Temple of Concordia, built in 430 BCE and converted to a Christian church two centuries later – thus accounting for its surprising state of preservation. In Agrigento’s western zone lie the remains of the massive Temple of Olympian Zeus, the largest known Doric temple to have ever been built. A visit to Agrigento’s archaeological museum with its regional exhibits lends context to our explorations. After our touring here we return to our hotel late this afternoon and dine there tonight.

Overnight: Eurostars Monte Tauro (B, L, D)

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 5
TAORMINA / MOUNT ETNA
This morning we visit one of Europe’s largest active volcanoes: Mount Etna. The ancients believed Etna to be the forge of Vulcan, god of fire; today, modern-day Sicilians still have a very personal relationship with the volcano, which frequently erupts but is seldom destructive – more than six centuries have passed since the lava actually reached the sea. Still, the sight of the dried lava is enough to give pause – great mounds of it lie in massive folds, looking almost alive; depending on its age, the lava is red, gray, or black. After we descend from the volcano, we stop at a private farm set amidst acres of lemon and kiwi groves where the fertile soil has been enriched by centuries of lava flows. Surrounded by the aromas of fresh fruit, we enjoy a small group highlight – a hearty lunch prepared by the family who lives here. Along with lunch we sample some excellent Sicilian wines made from grapes grown in conditions similar to those at California’s best vineyards: warm temperatures; rich, hilly terrain; and soft sea breezes. We return to Taormina mid-afternoon, with the remainder of the afternoon and evening at leisure. Dinner tonight is on our own.

Overnight: Locanda di San Martino (B, D)

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 7
MATERA
Today we explore this city of art and folklore, with its unique ancient urban structure still intact. Home to more than 100 rock churches (some merely caves with a cross, others with complex underground chambers), Matera resembles Jerusalem of Biblical times and has been used by international film directors as a stand-in for the holy city. The Sassi are among the oldest human settlements in Italy; evidence suggests that people were living here as early as 7000 BCE. During our guided walking tour, we visit a reconstructed cave dwelling with period fittings to see how life was once lived here. The remainder of the day is at leisure to explore independently. Lunch today is on our own; we dine together tonight at a local restaurant.

Overnight: Locanda di San Martino (B, D)

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 8
MATERA / ALBEROBELLO / LECCE
Departing Matera this morning, we stop in Alberobello, whose 400 or so trulli – historic houses that are white-washed and conical with grey-stone roofs – rank as a UNESCO World Heritage Site. The town’s name literally translates to “beautiful tree,” and the dense congregations of trulli here resemble a tightly packed forest grove. We take a walking tour along the pristine cobblestone alleys lined with trulli, some of which are private homes; others artisan workshops. During this tour, we take an inside visit to one of these historic homes, giving us an up-close viewpoint on how people in this area lived and worked. We enjoy some free time to explore on our own then have lunch together at a local restaurant. We then we travel on to Lecce, capital of Apulia’s Lecce province in the southern part of Italy’s boot heel. We arrive early this evening; dinner tonight is at our hotel.

Overnight: Patria Palace Hotel (B, L, D)

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9
LECCE

We set out this morning to discover Lecce, a 2,000-year-old city with a strong Greek heritage that today is known as the “Florence of the South” for its unique decorative style. Called barocco leccese, it features ornate and intricate carvings in a variety of forms, from cherubs and monsters to fruits and flowers, and adorns local buildings from top to bottom. It is the locally quarried “Lecce stone,” a malleable pink-tinged limestone well suited for carving, that gave the town its artistic identity – and that we encounter on today’s tour. And it is thanks to the competitive spirit of 17th-century merchants, religious orders, and noblemen who tried to outdo each other by building ever-grander palazzos that we experience a delightful sensory overload. We see this architectural exuberance on a walking tour that includes Palazzo Vescovile (circa 1632); the lavishly decorated church of Santa Croce, begun in 1353 and not finished until 1695; and the Duomo di Lecce (Lecce Cathedral), one of Italy’s most important cathedrals, with its lovely piazza – one of Italy’s prettiest public squares. Then the remainder of the day is free to explore this town of more than 100 churches and palaces on our own. Tonight we enjoy dinner in the gardens of a Lecce palazzo.

Overnight: Patria Palace Hotel (B, L, D)

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10
LECCE / OTRANTO

Today’s excursion takes us along Italy’s unheralded, yet beautiful, Adriatic coastline, along the sea that separates Italy’s boot heel from the Balkan Peninsula. Our first stop is in the beautiful walled town of Otranto, a historic meeting spot for various Mediterranean peoples over the millennia. If the day is especially clear, we may be able to see Albania across the water. On a walking tour of Otranto’s old town we see the imposing 15th-century Aragonese castle with its traditional moat; and the Romanesque cathedral with an impressive wall-to-wall mosaic floor created in 1166 depicting Noah’s Ark, Alexander the Great, and other religious, mythical, and pagan figures. After our touring of Otranto, we continue on to a local winery where we sample its offerings and enjoy lunch together. We return to Lecce mid-afternoon, with the remainder of the afternoon and evening at leisure. Dinner this evening is on our own.

Overnight: Hotel Antiche Mura (B, L)

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 11
LECCE / POLIGNANO A MARE / SORRENTO

We have a full day of scenic travel ahead as we journey from the Apulia region to Campania, a district boasting historical treasures (including famed Pompeii), the spectacular Amalfi coast, and the resort isle of Capri. Early this morning we depart by coach for Polignano a Mare, where we enjoy lunch together at a traditional trattoria in this historic coastal town set on limestone cliffs above the Adriatic. Then we continue on to lively seaside Sorrento, a popular resort and our base for exploring Campania. We arrive early this evening; dinner tonight is on our own.

Overnight: Hotel Antiche Mura (B, L)

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 12
SORRENTO / POMPEII

Today’s excursion takes us to the evocative UNESCO site of Pompeii, the wonderfully preserved Roman town that tells a tale both tragic and fascinating. Just before Mt. Vesuvius erupted in 79 CE, many citizens of Pompeii heeded the warning signs and fled the town. But some 2,000 unlucky people remained to be caught in the eruption’s wake, becoming engulfed in volcanic ash. The ash literally “froze” the town in time, leaving exquisite ruins that show us how these ancient Romans lived on a daily basis through vivid frescoes, a Forum, and one of the largest surviving Roman amphitheaters in existence. After a guided walking tour and exploration of this incredible site, we return to Sorrento early this afternoon. We then are at leisure for lunch and some time on our own until late afternoon when we journey outside the city to a working farm, where we partake in a hands-on demonstration of Neapolitan cooking – then enjoy the fruits of our labors for dinner.

Overnight: Hotel Antiche Mura (B, D)

MONDAY, OCTOBER 13

SORRENTO / CAPRI

Today we travel by hydrofoil to the storied Isle of Capri, a popular resort on the Tyrrhenian Sea since ancient Roman times. Together we walk through cozy Capri town and also visit the terraced Gardens of Augustus, rich with Mediterranean flora, coastal pines, and stunning views of the azure sea. Then we have free time to explore and to enjoy lunch on our own – Capri boasts a wide selection of restaurants, simple trattorias, and pizzerias from which to choose, and an abundance of the freshest seafood. After this delightful sojourn we return to Sorrento early this afternoon, where we are free for the remainder of the day. After dinner at leisure, be sure to sample the local specialty limoncello, a digestif made from the rinds of Sorrento's fragrant lemons (along with alcohol, water, and sugar).

Overnight: Hotel Antiche Mura (B)

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 14

SORRENTO / AMALFI COAST

This morning we embark on a breathtaking drive along the rugged Amalfi Coast. This stretch of winding, terraced coastline from Sorrento to Amalfi has inspired movies, music, and books; indeed, it is one of the most glorious drives in the world. During our leisurely excursion, we make several photo stops along this spectacular, hair-raising coastline, with the dazzling Mediterranean a sheer 500-foot drop below. We return to our hotel midday; lunch is on our own and the remainder of the afternoon is at leisure. Tonight we bid “arrivederci” to Italy and our fellow travelers at a farewell dinner.

ROME

You are on your own in the Eternal City, Italy’s capital and largest city, and an important center of religion and pilgrimage. With a history spanning more than 2,500 years – and a vibrant contemporary scene – a multitude of options abound; we can mention only some highlights here. But in addition to Rome’s “must see” attractions, be sure to take some time just to absorb the city’s atmosphere: linger over an espresso at an outdoor café . . . enjoy a long lunch of cucina Romana at a trattoria in the Trastevere neighborhood . . . people watch in Piazza Navona – it’s all part of la dolce vita in Rome.

Perhaps you’ll begin your explorations in the heart of the city: ancient Rome, a UNESCO World Heritage site and home of the 60,000-seat Colosseum (ca. 70–80 CE), Roman Forum, pastoral Palatine Hill, and the Pantheon, among other attractions. Move on to Vatican City, with monumental St. Peter’s Basilica, one of Christendom’s holiest sites and home of Michelangelo’s sublime Pieta; the Sistine Chapel, where Michelangelo’s restored masterpiece – renovated over 20 years with restoration work completed in 1999 – adorns the ceiling; and vast St. Peter’s Square, so familiar from countless television broadcasts and movie scenes. And then, in no specific order: Borghese Gardens, a green refuge from the bustle of the city; Borghese Gallery, the small museum housing treasures from the 15th to 18th centuries, including several breathtaking Bernini sculptures and works by Caravaggio (reservations required; these are easily obtained on-line); the grand art and archaeological museums of the Capitolini, housed in three palazzi surrounding a unique trapezoid-shaped piazza by Michelangelo; the ancient Jewish Ghetto by the Tiber, with the Jewish Museum and historic Great Synagogue; the grand boulevard of Via Veneto, home to designer boutiques; charming Trastevere, with its narrow streets, medieval buildings, and excellent restaurants; Trevi Fountain (throw in a coin to ensure your return to Rome); the open-air market at Campo de Fiori; grand Piazza Navona with Bernini’s Four Rivers fountain . . . the list truly is endless.
